CHAPTER XXII.

VERY early in the morning a messenger boy stumbled on the front steps of Meredith's house and landed the colored servant four yellow envelopes, night messages. The man carried them upstairs, left three with his master's guest, then knocked on Meredith's door till a response assured him that the occupant was awake and slid the fourth envelope under the door. Meredith lay quite without motion for several minutes, sleepily watching the yellow rhomboid in the crevice. It was a hateful looking thing to mix itself in with a pleasant dream and insist on being read, but after a while he climbed groggily out of bed and perused the message with heavy eyes, still half asleep. He read it twice before it penetrated.

Suppress all newspapers today. Convention meets at 11. If we succeed, a delegation will come to Rouen this afternoon. They will come. HEBLEN.

Tom rubbed his sticky eyelids and shook his head violently in a Spartan effort to rouse himself, but what more effectively performed the task for him were certain sounds that issued from Harkless' room across the hall. For some minutes Meredith had been dully conscious of a rustle and stir in the invalid's chamber, and he began to realize that no mere tossing upon a bed would account for a noise that reached him across a wide hall and through two closed doors of thick walnut. Suddenly he heard a quick, heavy tread, shod, in Harkless' room, and a resounding bang as some heavy object struck the floor. The doctor was not to come till evening. The servant had gone downstairs. Who in the sick man's room were shoes? He rushed across the hall in his pajamas and threw open the unlocked door.

The bed was disarranged and vacant. Harkless, fully dressed, was standing in the middle of the floor hurling garments at a small trunk. The horrified Meredith stood for a second bleached and speechless; then he rushed upon his friend and seized him with both hands.

"Mad, by heaven! Mad!"
"Let go of me, Tom!"
"Lunatic! Lunatic!"
"Don't stop me one instant!"
Meredith tried to force him toward the bed. "No; get back to bed. You're delirious, boy!"

"Delirious nothing! I'm a well man!"
"Go to bed! Go to bed!"
Harkless set him out of the way with one arm. "To bed!" he cried. "I'm going to Plattville!"
Meredith wrung his hands. "The doctor!"

"Doctor be hanged!"
"What in the name of all that's terrible is the matter, John?"

His companion slung a light overcoat, unfolded, on the overflowing, misshapen bundle of clothes that lay in the trunk, then he jumped on the lid with both feet and kicked the hump into the lock, while a very elegantly laun-dered cuff and shirt sleeve dangled out from under the fastened lid. "I haven't one second to talk, Tom; I have eighteen minutes to catch the express. It's more than a mile to the station, and the train leaves here at 9:02. I get there at 10:47. Telephone a cab for me, please, or tell me the number. I don't want to stop to hunt it up."

Meredith looked him in the eyes. In the pupils of Harkless' eyes a fierce light. His cheeks were reddened with an angry, healthy glow, and his teeth were clenched till the line of his jaw stood out like that of an embattled athlete. His brow was dark, his chest was thrown out, and he took deep, quick breaths. His shoulders were squared, and in spite of his thinness they looked massy. Lethargy or malaria, or both—whatever his ailment—it was gone. He was six feet of hot wrath and cold resolution.

Tom said, "You are going?"
"Yes," he answered quietly, "I am going."

"Then I will go with you."
"Thank you, Tom," said Harkless simply.

Meredith ran into his room, pressed an electric button and began to dive into his clothes with a panting rapidity astonishingly foreign to his desire. The colored man appeared in the doorway.
"The cart, Jim!" shouted his master.
"We want it like lightning. Tell the cook to give Harkless his breakfast in a hurry. Set a cup of coffee on the table by the front door for me. Run! We've got to catch a train. That'll be quicker than any cab," he explained to Harkless. "We'll break the ordinance against fast driving getting down there."

Ten minutes later the cart swept away from the house at a gait that pained the respectable neighborhood. The big horse plunged through the air, his ears laid flat toward his tail. The cart careened sickeningly, and the face of the servant clutching at the rail in the rear was smeared with pallor as they pirouetted around curves on one wheel. To him it seemed they skirted the corners and death simultaneously, and the speed of their going made a strong wind in their faces.

Harkless leaned forward. "Can you make it a little faster, Tom?" he said.

They dashed up to the station amid the cries of people flying to the walls for safety. The two gentlemen leaped from the cart, bore down upon the ticket office, stormed at the agent and ran nimbly at the gates, flourishing their passports. The official on duty eyed them wearily. "Been gone two minutes," he remarked with a peaceable yawn.

Harkless stamped his foot on the cement flags; then he stood stock still, gazing at the empty tracks, but Meredith turned to him, smiling. "Won't it keep?" he asked.

"Yes, it will keep," John answered. "Part of it may have to keep till election day, but some of it I will settle between now and then. And that," he cried between his teeth, "and that is the part of it in regard to young Fisbee!"

FIBROID TUMORS CURED.

Mrs. Hayes' First Letter Appealing to Mrs. Pinkham for Help:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been under Boston doctors' treatment for a long time without any relief. They tell me I have a fibroid tumor. I cannot sit down without great pain, and the soreness extends up my spine. I have bearing-down pains both back and front. My abdomen is swollen, and I have had flowing spells for three years. My appetite is not good. I cannot walk or be on my feet for any length of time.

"The symptoms of Fibroid Tumor given in your little book accurately describe my case, so I write to you for advice."—(Signed) MRS. E. F. HAYES, 252 Dudley St. (Roxbury), Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Hayes' Second Letter:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Sometime ago I wrote to you describing my symptoms and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully, and to-day I am a well woman.

"The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system. I can walk miles now."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth five dollars a drop. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors or female trouble of any kind to give it a faithful trial."—(Signed) MRS. E. F. HAYES, 252 Dudley St. (Roxbury), Boston, Mass. —$5000 forfeit if original of above letters proving genuineness cannot be produced.

"Oh, it's about H. Fisbee, is it?"
"Yes, it's H. Fisbee."

"Well, we might as well go up and see what the doctor thinks of you; there's no train."

"I don't want to see a doctor again ever—as long as I live. I'm as well as anybody."

Tom burst out laughing and clapped his companion lightly on the shoulder, his eyes dancing with pleasure. "Upon my soul," he cried, "I believe you are. A miracle wrought by the witch wand of indignation! That's rather against tradition, isn't it? Well, let's take a drive."

"Meredith," said the other, turning to him gravely, "you may think me a fool if you will, and it's likely I am, but I don't leave this station except by train. I've only two days to work in."

Harkless, fully dressed, was standing in the middle of the floor.

and every minute lessens our chances to beat McDune, and I have to begin by wasting time on a tussle with a traitor. There's another train at 11:55; I don't take any chances on missing that one."

"Well, well," laughed his friend, pushing him good humoredly toward a door by a red and white striped pillar. "We'll wait here if you like. But at least go in there and get a shave; it's a clean shop. You want to look your best if you are going down to fight H. Fisbee."

"Take these, then, and you will understand," said Harkless, and he thrust his three telegrams of the morning into Tom's hand and disappeared into the barber shop. When he was gone Meredith went to the telegraph office in the station and sent a line over the wires to Helen: "Keep your delegation at home. He's coming on the 11:55."

Then he read the three telegrams Harkless had given him. They were all from Plattville.

Sorry cannot oblige. Present incumbent for all matters pertaining to Herald. Get here by 10:47. Looks bad. Come if it kills you.

WARREN SMITH.
You intrusted me with sole responsibility for all matters pertaining to Herald. Declared yourself mere spectator. Does this permit your interfering with my policy for the paper? Decline to consider any proposition to relieve me of my duties without proper warning and allowance of time. Forced to disregard all suggestions as to policy, which, by your own instructions, is entirely my affair and must be carried out as I direct.

RUSSIAN PATIENCE

A Waiting Game Is That
The Czar Is Playing in the Far East.

NOT READY TO STRIKE

Active Preparations are Going Forward Under Cover of a Curtain of Silence.

Not a Scrap of Real Information on the Situation Has Come Out in Ten Days.

Chefoo, April 5.—There was another bombardment of Port Arthur April 3, but there are no authentic details of the engagement available.

St. Petersburg, April 5.—As the time approaches for the opening of land operations on a large scale, the Russian authorities are exercising greater vigilance to prevent the news of their plans for the disposition of troops in the theater of war from going abroad.

For ten days not a scrap of real information, except such as is contained in official dispatches, has been given out or has come from the front. There practically exists an embargo upon news dispatches.

It is as if an impenetrable curtain had suddenly been rung down on the stage of war in east Asia. Behind this curtain the greatest activity prevails. General Kuropatkin, at his temporary headquarters in Liao Yang, is directing the execution of his plans, moving the troops, strengthening the positions selected and otherwise looking after the organization and innumerable wants of the army in the field.

That the general's plan of campaign has been worked out, and that it involves the playing of a waiting game until the disposition of the army has been completed, can be stated with positiveness. It can also be stated that these plans are progressing even more rapidly than expected. Every day is now considered a distinct gain for the Russians and as distinct a loss for the Japanese. For this reason it can be confidently predicted that the Russians will not do more than harass the Japanese advance in Korea. The gradual withdrawal of the Russians does not mean anything as determining the fighting capacities of the men of the respective armies; it is part of the Russian tactics.

The melting of the snow in a mountainous country will render impassable in the spring the roads over which the Japanese must come, and this is considered to be almost as effective an opposition as a Russian army corps. The Russians also count upon a Japanese flanking movement in connection with a frontal attack, and therefore a Russian force has been disposed along the Tumen to prevent the entrance of a Japanese column there. Another flanking movement is expected at the head of the Liao Tung gulf near New Chwang, and everything there is being prepared to receive the enemy; but for the present the Russian military authorities believe that the Japanese game at this point has been blocked by the failure of the attempts to bottle up and render immobile the fleet of Vice Admiral Makarov, which, while free, will be too great a menace to the movement of Japanese transports into the gulf of Pechili. Another effort to block Port Arthur is consequently expected daily.

One of the principal reasons for Viceroy Alexieff's visit to Port Arthur is understood to have been to consult Vice Admiral Makarov with a view to devising plans for defeating those attacks. It is hinted in high quarters that the next time the Japanese appear off Port Arthur they will find a surprise awaiting them. Viceroy Alexieff has returned to Mukden.

THE WAR'S FIRST STAGE

Finds Japan in Complete Possession of Korea.

London, April 5.—Eight weeks from the opening of the war sees Japan, without any real fighting, apparently in complete possession of Korea and the first stage of the campaign ended.

According to a Kobe correspondent who telegraphs under date of April 4, a Ping Yang dispatch has been received there confirming the report from Shanghai that Japanese scouts entered Wiju, Korea, on Monday, and that the Russians apparently retreated beyond the Yalu river, but no further news of any kind is to hand, throwing light on either land or sea operations. Everything, however, is regarded as pointing to the imminence of important developments.

A Seoul correspondent asserts that the landing of Japanese troops at Chinnampo has now ceased, but that the port is guarded by a large fleet and the Japanese base has moved north from Ping Yang, where only a few troops now remain. A correspondent at Tokio reports that the Japanese correspondents at the front who followed the army through the Chino-Japanese war express great surprise at the improvement of the Japanese troops during the past decade. The improvement is noticeable alike in equipment, organization and discipline, and more especially in the educational standard of the men.

DEMOCRATS FRIGHTENED

Action at Indianapolis Shows Fear of Hearst Boom.

Indianapolis, April 5.—The Democrats here have at last shown unmistakably that they are afraid of William R. Hearst, and their public acknowledgment came yesterday when Jos. T. Fanning, district chairman, and Charles B. Clarke, county chairman, combined to issue calls for the primaries to choose delegates to the state convention on next Friday. This is an unheard-of procedure and would never have been resorted to had not the managers been frightened. It has been the custom from time immemorial for both parties to select their delegates here the night before the convention. This has been done for the very purpose of making it unnecessary for candidates to spend large sums in trying to line up ward delegations after they had been chosen. That the Democrats have broken the old program can only be explained on the ground that the leaders had good reasons for doing so. Hearst is the reason. His boom campaign which has been propagated purely by the lavish use of money, has frightened the managers who are opposed to him. They control the organization and they called the primaries to suit themselves. In all quarters yesterday after the fact that the call had been sent out became known there was a great deal of talk and the consensus of opinion is that the one and only reason is Hearst.

Indianapolis just now is apparently the abiding place of a gang of experienced sneak thieves and clever crooks, and their success in operating has begun to worry the police not a little. Night after night the men have plied their nefarious business, and as a result scores of people are the losers. In most instances the thieves have not been well rewarded for their work, as the houses entered have not been well stocked. But in at least one instance they secured enough booty to make them care to stay here. This was in robbing the home of Medford B. Wilson, president of the Columbia National bank. His home was entered by a porch climber, who carried off about $3,000 worth of valuables. A servant who happened to go upstairs saw the thief jump out of a window on her approach, but the man escaped. The police have taken extra precautions, and they have established a system which promises to soon put the gang out of business. This is to hold up suspicious looking characters of all kinds and make them give an account of themselves. Any man who cannot give a satisfactory explanation will be arrested.

The laundrymen of the state are just now having their inning in the city. There are state organizations of nearly every trade and business industry in the state, and they take their turns in keeping things going here and of making news for the papers. Now it is the time for the laundrymen and they are having a good time. The laundrymen all say their organization is not for the purpose of fixing rates, and indeed they point out that it would be difficult for them to make any price regulations inasmuch as conditions vary in every city. The association is really a big club, where they hold meetings once a year to renew acquaintances and hold social sessions. At the same time business propositions are discussed and papers on subjects relating to various phases of their trade are read. More attention is given to the social end than to anything else, however, and this was shown last night, when all the members turned out to attend a theater party and afterward went to a luncheon at the German House.

Indianapolis promises to become a bidder for another national convention this year, and that is the biennial meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Los Angeles was originally selected as the convention city, but objections have been raised to it by Eastern delegates. Several of the smaller roads in the East have declined to furnish their employees with transportation. If the men have to pay their way they do not want to go so far. Cleveland has been suggested as an intermediate point which would prove advantageous. Local men have become interested, however, and they say if the convention town is to be changed they want the gathering held here. The central location of the city will eventually win for Indianapolis, they believe if the question is ever opened up.

Murder in Reformatory.

Jeffersonville, Ind., April 5.—The Clark county grand jury, to be drawn next Monday, will have to consider the case of Herman Gehrs, the convict, who killed Cyrus Berry, a fellow convict, Jan. 7, without the slightest provocation. Gehrs had been in the reformatory but a few days when he assaulted Berry, crushing his skull. He died in a few hours.

Marines on Guard.

Panama, April 5.—The railroad switchmen have joined in the strike of the railroad laborers. United States marines will be landed on the wharves and other property of the railroad, which the soldiers of the republic are now patrolling.

Lawton, Okla., April 5.—When the Democratic convention had assembled here Colonel Hawkins, a sergeant-at-arms of the legislature, was shot three times and fatally wounded by Editor Russell. He returned the fire, but without effect.

Southern Indiana's Loss In

FARMERS LOSE HOPE

Their Wheat Crops Have Been Ruined and They Will Plant Fields in Corn.

Many People in White River Bottoms Still Cooped Up by Flood.

Evansville, Ind., April 5.—All the streams in southern Indiana will probably be back in their channels by the last of the week. As the water is receding slowly the farmers have abandoned all hopes of saving their wheat crops, and the wheat ground will be plowed up and planted in corn.

There are many people living in White river bottoms in the second story of their homes and cannot be reached by the boats. They must remain there until the backwater recedes. A fair estimate of the property and crop losses along the Wabash and White rivers is $400,000.

BANKERS IN TROUBLE

Officers of Defunct Institution Charged With Embezzlement.

Auburn, Ind., April 5.—Albert Robbins, president of the defunct Farmers' bank, and his son Edward, who was cashier, have been arrested on information filed before Judge Walters, charging them with embezzlement. The complaints were sworn to by Isaac Baughman and Charles Bolton, who were depositors, the former depositing $400 the day previous to the closing of the bank. Messrs. Robbins gave bond for their appearance, signed by F. E. Rekhart and T. F. Timmerman, leading carriage manufacturers. There is considerable speculation as to why the information was filed with the justice, when the circuit court is now in session.

Late Spring Causes Suicide.

Richmond, Ind., April 5.—William Morgan, a farmer near Centerville, committed suicide, using a shotgun, the discharge tearing away his head. He was forty-six years old and owned a farm of sixty acres in Center township. He was well-to-do and stood well with his neighbors. For several weeks he has been despondent and worried over the lateness of the spring weather, which delayed his farm work. Several times recently he talked of taking his life. His wife, hearing the report of the gun, ran to his side, only to find him dead. A note lying on the table bade farewell to his wife, and simply said that he intended to end his troubles by shooting himself.

Well Known Man Missing.

Logansport, Ind., April 5.—Sol D. Brandt, president of the Hoosier Poultry and Kennel club and owner of Cedar Island, a summer resort in the Wabash river, is missing. It is supposed that he drowned in the Wabash floods, as the water surrounding his summer home has risen twenty feet. While rowing in this torrent it is presumed his canoe upset. He originated the plan of beautifying Cedar Island, where seventy summer homes are building for wealthy owners in Louisville, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Chicago. He was noted throughout Indiana as a dog fancier and a breeder of St. Bernards.

Boy Made Murderous Threat.

Frankfort, Ind., April 5.—David Thompson, fifteen years old, is in jail here to prevent him carrying out a threat to murder his stepfather, Oliver Evans. When the police arrested Thompson he was armed with a club and was trying to get into the house of his stepfather. He told the police that if he could have secured a revolver Evans would have been dead before they arrived.

Funeral by Water.

Washington, Ind., April 5.—Marv,

the daughter of William Martin, one of the refugees from the district flooded by White river, is dead of pneumonia. The family was forced to flee from home in a small boat, and took refuge in an old deserted schoolhouse. The water rose rapidly and it was soon surrounded. The body was taken in a boat to the cemetery four miles away.

City Locating Factories.

Laporte, Ind., April 5.—Contracts have been signed here for the removal to this city of the Edwards Headlight company from Cincinnati. The city provides the company with a factory building and employment will ultimately be given to fifty men. This is the sixth factory secured within a year, with a total of about 800 men.

Despondent Over Illness.

Indianapolis, April 5.—Eva Crossaby, aged nineteen years, committed suicide by taking morphine. Despondency over her recent illness is assigned as the cause.

Struck by Interurban Car.

Shelbyville, Ind., April 5.—Anderson Gore, aged seventy-two years, was struck by an interurban car at Walser station and instantly killed.

Didn't Want the Place.

Seoul, April 5.—Hyung-young-ung, who was recently appointed Korean minister to Japan, has declined to accept the office.

FOR SUPREME JUDGE.

The republicans of Jackson county will present the name of Oscar H. Montgomery, of Seymour, for the nomination for judge of the Supreme Court for the Second judicial district, which consists practically of all south-eastern Indiana, in the belief that his eminent fitness for high judicial office is so generally recognized throughout the state as to justify the hope of his friends and neighbors that he will be nominated.

Mr. Montgomery was born April 27, 1859, on his father's farm in Redding township, in this county, where he gained from early childhood by hard work a knowledge of and fondness for practical farming which he retains and cherishes to the present day. With such preparations as he could get in the public schools in the intervals of farm work, he entered Hanover college, and took his degree in the classical course in 1881 taking the second honors in his class, and being during his last year in college, the president of the Interstate Oratorical Association.

Returning to Seymour after graduation he read law in the office of Hon. Albert P. Charles, and was admitted to the bar early in 1884, when he commenced the practice in Greenfield, Indiana, where he remained until February, 1885. At that time he returned to Seymour and opened an office, where he has ever since practiced law without a partner.

From the beginning of his practice in Seymour he has been fortunate in having a large and constantly increasing business, extending all over southern Indiana, and involving litigation of every character. Although for ten years the city attorney for Seymour, he has never made a specialty of any branch of the profession, but has served public or private and personal interests as frequently as he has been employed on behalf of corporations. Fully equipped for his profession by twenty years of a general practice as broad as the law itself and representing a clientele composed of all classes and interests in the community, he is better qualified for the bench than any man could be who had made a specialty of any one branch of the law.

About six years ago he was appointed by Governor Mount a member of the State Commission on Uniform Laws, consisting of Judges Robert S. Taylor and George L. Reinhard, Ex Attorney-General William A. Ketcham, Samuel O. Pickens and himself, and he is still serving as a member of that important Commission. He is vice-president of the State Bar Association of Indiana and served for some years as a member of the Local Council for Indiana of the American Bar Association.

In his devotion to the arduous labors of his profession he has not forgotten or neglected his duties as a citizen, but has served as chairman of the republican county committee of Jackson county, and as a most efficient member of the republican state committee for the fourth congressional district, and as a delegate to the Republican National Convention of 1896; and for ten years has been a member of the board of trustees of Hanover college.

Six years ago when he came very near the nomination for this high office, he was defeated through the charge that he was too young. Today he is of the age of Judges Francis E. Baker, Albert B. Anderson and John H. Gillett, and is older than Judge Hackney was when he retired from the supreme bench after six years of distinguished service.

In the selection of judicial candidates, the range of a man's practice, the breadth of his human sympathy, the manner in which he has discharged the duties of citizenship should have weight as well as his knowledge of the books or the size of the fees he has earned by representing large interests.

The little things of the law are as important to the majority of the people as the great things are to the few; and a knowledge of and acquaintance with and a sympathy for humanity, should count for as much in a judge as a knowledge of what is to be found in the books. In Mr. Montgomery's case there is no question of such compensation. In the mere matter of learning, and in the understanding of the law, he is the peer of any lawyer in the state; and he adds to this a knowledge of the farm and of the farmer, of business and of the business man, of life and of people, which is attained by few men in his profession, and which especially fits him to be a member of the highest court of the state. In his hands every citizen can feel sure that the rights of life and liberty and also of property whether individual or aggregate will be protected.

In presenting the name of Mr. Montgomery for judge of the supreme court the republicans of Jackson county and his friends throughout the state, knowing full well that he should be nominated, are firm in their belief that he will be the nominee of the state convention for supreme judge of the Second judicial district.

The democratic bosses are discouraged and have been for several days. They have been laboring for a long time to get out candidates and now on the day of the primary they have several blank places on the ticket.

TAME PRIMARY.

Democrats Having a Hard Time to Get Out Their Vote.

About the tamest primary ever held in Seymour is the democratic city primary today. At 3:30 this afternoon only about 165 votes had been cast. They were coming in very slowly and those who did come showed no enthusiasm. The candidates for council are so few that they only opened two polling places. D. B. Robertson and George Huber are candidates for council in the First ward, none in the Second, J. N. Gibson and J. R. Buhner in the Third, Ed Kidd in the Fourth and none in the Fifth. So there are no contests for council.

There are only two contests all told. Those are between Dr. Shields and F. W. Wesner for mayor, and Lon Prewitz and John Reddinger for marshal and these are not very exciting though some very peculiar campaign methods are being used. Some of the old time bosses who have recovered from the county primary were out trying to line up the boys for Dr. Shields but Judge Wesner had his friends about the polls and they were doing some plugging for their man, but the votes were coming so slowly that the bosses and pluggers did not have enough material to work on to keep up an interest.

For clerk Bud Pomeroy has no opposition, Ed Jennings having retired to run for auditor. The candidate for treasurer is Cotton Brandt and he was not the first choice of the bosses by any means, as at least twenty others had listened to the pleadings of the bosses. There is no candidate for city judge.

So when the primary is over tonight only a part of a ticket will be nominated and that part will be nothing to brag on.

Lost a Finger.
George Schrier, who is employed at Stanfield's saw mill, formerly the Anthony mill, got a finger in the machinery some way this afternoon and received a painful injury. The end of the finger was cut off.

HOW TO LIVE LONG.
Eat Sparingly and as Life Wanes Eat Still More Sparingly.

That most men die their graves with their teeth has seldom been pointed out more forcibly than is done in the Century in an article by Roger S. Tracy, entitled "How to Live Long." The three score and ten limit to human life is pronounced a fallacy. Death from old age, occurring at seventy-five or eighty, is a misnomer. Comparative physiologists, we are told, have set the natural years of man at 100, even sometimes at 120, and the reason why the overwhelming majority fall short of normal life is comprised in one sentence—we all eat too much. He, then, who would live to be old, retaining sight, hearing and some digestion, not relinquishing the power of healthy enjoyment, has but to follow a simple rule. Eat sparingly. Refrain from clogging the system by an overabundance of food. Never entirely satisfy the appetite, and make it a habit occasionally to omit a meal or two altogether.

"If I were to assign any one thing as especially conducive to long life from a study of the habits of centenarians, it would be starvation," says one authority quoted, and the example is cited of one Luigi Cornaro, who, having lived the pace that kills, amended his ways when death threatened and so reorganized his enfeebled body by a life of temperance and restraint that he lived to be 100, although the doctors had given him up at forty. In middle life, from thirty-five to forty-five, according to Dr. Tracy, there comes a waning of the powers. The effects of overindulgence in eating or drinking are no longer vigorously thrown off as in youth. If the fact is not recognized and the same habits are kept up as heretofore, there is trouble ahead. But if the individual adopts a new regimen of diet, diminishes his meals and regulates his existence as becomes his soberer years a sort of rejuvenation follows, and if at the second climacteric, occurring somewhere between sixty and seventy, there is a further pull up in the food supply, regulated by the slackening powers of assimilation, a hale old age is extremely likely to ensue.

Easy Going Butcher.
The Kansas City Journal tells of a Kansas man who went to a rural butcher shop in Kentucky to order a porterhouse steak. "I have just started in on this beef," said the butcher, "and I won't be down to the porterhouse until about 2 o'clock." His method was to lay half a beef on his block and begin at one end and cut along until it was gone, serving his customers with pieces all the way from the hoof to the neck regardless of their preferences.

A telegram to Thomas J. Clark, his brother-in-law, states that the remains will be brought here Wednesday and burial will take place at Riverview on Thursday, the time to be announced later.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that Science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Can You Afford

To let your Eye sight troubles run on longer? Delays are dangerous and the sooner you have the error corrected, the better it will be.

EYE STRAIN is often the cause of headaches, the kind that nothing but sleep and rest seem to help—an error of refraction is usually the cause, and when we measure up the eye and correct the error, nature goes on unmoled.

We know how to measure up these errors and how to correct them with lenses, specially ground for each individual and we want you to know it also, and how beneficial these lenses are for your eyes. You may have splendid vision, and still have eye strain. These are cases where we usually find headaches. Examinations free for a limited time.

It is barely possible that Mr. Cornell will not be here longer than this week, and the christian people are urged to do all they can for the salvation of souls.

For Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowel troubles and their attendant nervous affections, these waters have produced wonderful results. They allay gastric irritation, render soluble in the body substances that are harmful, and thus free the body of them. Their action on the kidneys and bowels, as well as on the skin, corrects the activities due to various kinds of fermentation in the body.

An excellent adjunct to these waters is the good air and the opportunity for exercise in the open.

House in No Hurry to Help the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

HALF A MILLION ASKED

Attempt to Secure Consideration Under Suspension of Rules Was Voted Down.

Senate Making Considerable Progress With Post Office Appropriation Bill.

Washington, April 5.—In the house of representatives an attempt to secure consideration under suspension of the rules of the bill appropriating $475,000 for the Lewis and Clark centennial exposition to be held in Portland, Ore., in 1905, failed after the house had divided several times and the roll had been called twice. The military academy appropriation bill was taken up after Mr. Parker, in charge of the bill, had explained its features briefly. Mr. Goldfogle of New York spoke in behalf of the Jews of the United States, for whom he asked equal treatment and protection while traveling in Russia. Mr. Livernash of California made an attack on President Roosevelt's attitude on the labor question, and Mr. Morrell of Pennsylvania discussed the negro question.

Considerable progress has been made with the postoffice appropriation bill in the senate. Both provisions of the bill relating to sites for postoffice purposes in New York city as amended by the senate committee, were agreed to. Other important amendments agreed to provide for the transfer of the free delivery service from the office of the fourth assistant postmaster general to the office of the first assistant postmaster general; struck out the age limit for cars used in the railway mail service and eliminated the restrictions placed on first and second-class postmasters in the matter of telephone service.

Phi Kappa Psi to Meet.

Indianapolis, April 5.—The grand arch council of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity will be held at the Claypool hotel beginning this evening and continuing until Friday night. The hosts for the week's entertainment are the members of the fraternity throughout the state. This is the biennial convention of the national organization, at which there will be both active and alumni delegates from each of the forty colleges in which the order is located.

Window Glass Men Elect Officers.

Pittsburg, April 5.—Official announcement of the result of the vote cast for officers of the Window Glass Workers' Association of America shows that Daniel Winters, jr., was elected president by a large majority, while Charles Zimmerman was chosen secretary. This means that John Phillips, jr., who is at present head of the organization, will retire May 1. The new officials are from Pittsburg.

A Useless Post.

Washington, April 5.—It was stated at the war department today that Brigadier General Allen of the Philippines constabulary had been ordered from Seoul, Korea, to his regular station at Manila, at his own request, on the ground that the sources of information at Seoul regarding military operations are exhausted and consequently there is no longer any object in his remaining there.

Two Texas Bad Men Slain.

Athens, Tex., April 5.—Jim Hering and Walter Hering were killed while resisting arrest by the city marshal at this place. The Herings, who married sisters, were beating their mother-in-law and the neighbors called on the officers for assistance. In the fight seventeen shots were fired and the marshal was rendered unconscious by a fist blow and two deputies were slightly wounded.

Big Fire at Tampa.

Tampa, Fla., April 5.—A fire which swept West Tampa yesterday afternoon caused a loss which will exceed $300,000. The only death loss so far as known is that of one Cuban baby which was burned in one of the cigar factories. Fifteen blocks of business houses and nearly 200 tenements were destroyed. Hundreds of families of cigarmakers are homeless.

Soldiers Kick on Food.

Chicago, April 5.—Formal protest against the quality of food furnished to the soldiers of the garrison at Fort Sheridan has been expressed by them in a petition sent to Washington. The men who signed the document declare therein that unless their request for more palatable rations is granted they will refuse to re-enlist when their present terms expire.

Wreck Caused by Broken Wheel.

Columbus, Ohio, April 5.—A mixed train on the Baltimore & Ohio was wrecked four miles east of Somerset last evening by the breaking of a wheel on a freight car, and eight persons were injured. Two passenger coaches, which contained about thirty people, were dented and several persons were painfully injured.

A TALE OF FRAUD

Illegal Naturalization Alleged Against Chicago Parties.

New York, April 5.—Arnoldo Waebber, a young Italian, was arrested by the immigration authorities at Ellis Island on the charge of having fraudulent naturalization papers in his possession. If the story he tells is to be believed some Chicago officials have been making citizens of foreigners who have not been in this country the required time.

Waebber says that while living in San Francisco he married and started for Italy. He reached Chicago about a year ago on his way to New York. On the night of April 2, 1903, he went to an Italian political club in Clark street with about 100 of his countrymen. They were asked to hold up their right hands and swear that they forever renounced the king of Italy and "would be for all time to come a subject of the king of the United States." Each man in turn, the Italian swears, was then handed a certificate of naturalization. Waebber says they were asked no questions as to how long they were in this country, nor were they required to pay any fees for the issuance of the papers in return for the "free papers." Waebber says each man promised to vote at the municipal election in Chicago a week later and to register a vote against Mayor Carter Harrison.

The Italian says he left the following day with his wife and a fellow-countryman for New York, where all three took a steamer for Italy. After remaining in Italy nearly a year, Waebber and his wife decided to return to the United States. On arrival he informed the immigration authorities that he was a citizen and produced his papers. Being asked when he came to this country he gave the correct date, which disclosed the fact that he was not legally entitled to the citizenship papers. His arrest followed. When arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields Waebber waived examination and was bound over to the next federal grand jury.

When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure the food you eat is enjoyed. It is digested, assimilated and its nutrient properties appropriated by the blood and tissues. Health is the result. Sold by W. F. Peter Drug Co., and A. J. Pellens.

Latest From the Front.

Chefoo, April 5.—The Nippon Yusen Kaisha has resumed its service between Korea and northern China with foreign steamers. The first steamer has arrived from Chemulpo and from the passengers it was learned that the last contingent of Japan's first army landed in Korea March 30. The army consists of 50,000 men, including coolie carriers. Japan has made Anju a frontal base, and has bridged the Chang Chung and Pak Chung rivers, and is ready to advance by three roads to the Yalu river. It will probably be a month, however, before a big battle will be fought, as the artillery moves slowly on account of poor horses and the bad management of the horses. Otherwise the organization of the Japanese forces is almost perfect. An immense quantity of supplies is going forward by coolie carriers.

Good for Children.

The pleasant to take and harmless One Minute Cough Cure gives immediate relief in all cases of cough and lagrippe because it does not pass immediately into the stomach, but takes effect right at the seat of the trouble. It draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes and cures permanently by enabling the lungs to contribute pure life-giving and life-sustaining oxygen to the blood and tissues. One Minute Cough Cure is pleasant to take and it is good alike for young and old. Sold by W. F. Peter Drug Co., and A. J. Pellens.

Sentenced After Many Years.

Keokuk, Ia., April 5.—Charles L. Cackley, murderer of Constable Reuben Fenstermaker in 1866 at Farmington, who was arrested after thirty-six years, entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to ten years in prison at Fort Madison. During the thirty-six years following the murder Cackley led an honest, upright life in a wood camp in southern Missouri. He married and reared a family, who knew nothing of the indictment hanging over him. His whereabouts was discovered through an application for a pension. Cackley is sixty-eight years old.

Will Seek Health at Old Point.

Washington, April 5.—Postmaster General Payne has decided to go to Old Point Comfort, Va., to recuperate from his protracted illness.

Sciatic Rheumatism Cured.

"I have been subject to sciatic rheumatism for years," says E. H. Waldron, of Wilton Junction, Iowa. "My joints were stiff and gave me much pain and discomfort. My joints would crack when I straightened up. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and have been thoroughly cured. Have not had a pain or ache from the old trouble for many months. It is certainly a most wonderful liniment." For sale by C. W. Milbous.
